

Title

Teddy Bear Hugs

Description

In the activity, children have the opportunity to donate teddy bears to children who are going through a difficult moment. You can deliver them to paediatric hospitals, orphanages, and in selected places in the Balkans, Greece, or the Middle East where a large number of war refugees live.

Donating a teddy bear that children can hug when they feel blue is a simple gesture that spreads peace and gives hope.

The idea was devised by the Children of the Earth organisation in 2004 with the goal of distributing teddy bears to young victims of the tsunami in Thailand. The project has since grown and has reached several places in the world such as Louisiana, Africa, Haiti, and the Middle East.

The activity is promoted by Children of the Earth and Living Peace International.
